NATIONAL ID—Biblical Event?

Last-minute attempts by online activists to halt an electronic ID card failed Tuesday when the U.S. Senate unanimously voted to impose a sweeping set of identification requirements on Americans.

After the Real ID Act's sponsors glued it to an Iraq military spending bill, final passage was all but guaranteed. Yet that didn't stop a dedicated cadre of privacy activists from trying to raise the alarm in the last few days.

condemned it. Sen. Dick Durbin, D-Ill., warned last month that the Real ID Act creates "de facto national ID cards" and the National Immigration Law Center said it will make it harder even for legal immigrants and citizens to get drivers' licenses.

The so-called Real ID Act now heads to President Bush, who is expected to sign the bill into law this month. Its backers, including the Bush administration, say it's needed to stop illegal immigrants from obtaining drivers' licenses.

UnRealID.com, which calls the legislation a "national ID card," says that more than 10,800 people filled out its online petition to senators.

Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner, a Wisconsin Republican and Real ID Act sponsor, applauded the Senate vote on Tuesday. "The Real ID is vital to preventing foreign terrorists from hiding in plain sight while conducting their operations and planning attacks," Sensenbrenner said. "By targeting terrorist travel, the Real ID will assist in our war-on-terror efforts to disrupt terrorist operations and help secure our borders."

If the act's mandates take effect in May 2008, as expected, Americans will be required to obtain federally approved ID cards with "machine readable technology" that abides by Department of Homeland Security specifications. Anyone without such an ID card will be effectively prohibited from traveling by air or Amtrak, opening a bank account, or entering federal buildings.

The Electronic Frontier Foundation hastily created a "Stop The Real ID Act!" campaign last week, and the ACLU denounced the bill as a measure that would create "a system ripe for identity theft." Security guru Bruce Schneier offered his own negative critique.

If the Real ID Act had been a standalone piece of legislation—instead of being embedded in an unrelated military spending bill—its passage in the Senate might have been less certain.

The House approved it in February by a relatively narrow vote of 261-161, and some senators had

Editor's Note: It appears as if the GOP is becoming as visceral as the Democrats. The National ID is unconstitutional and takes away state sovereignty rights; only enforcing the laws we have will help. Bart Stupak (D), Michigan, failed to vote either way on this extremely important bill.

LEVIN & STABENOW: Get the Memo Yet?

It still brings laughter to a room whenever the topic of invasive species is brought up and in particular when Levin and Stabenow are discussed about their most recent political epiphany regarding ships' ballasts.

Michigan's Whiz Kids are everywhere except where they need to be, which is current. Neglecting the best interest of the people who reside outside of Detroit. Either one on news shows are like showing Michigan's SAT scores.

There are few words to use that are better to describe the modern Dems and our self-promoting senators than simply; embarrassing. The highly incompetent Dems are merely a reflection of some federal agencies

Family Medical Leave Act (1993) Screws Working Americans:

http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/cfr/waisidx\_98/29cfr825\_98.html

It was thought to be a great program that would allow people with family medical care concerns to leave work for six months and their jobs would be there when they came back. Bill Clinton and his fellow Democrats pimped us to buy into his crap.

The Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) was also hailed as providing another step towards a woman's rights. Hillary Clinton, the dimmest Dem bulb, lit the way.

In reality, FMLA was one of many scams launched during the Clinton years. The FMLA provides a protection to employers; not to employees and adds an additional bitter pill to swallow by the American workers.

A worker who has to take time off for any personal injury or sickness, even if they have 20 years on the job and accumulated 20 weeks of sick leave, are now required to burn PTO (Personal Time Off) or vacation time in lieu of sick leave.

The FMLA passed in 1993, before the GOP took control of Congress, but the implementation is just starting to creep into the workplace.

This mandated use of earned PTO or vacation time usually kicks in just after four or six weeks, depending how hard the employer wants to thrust it into the employee. It is the prerogative of the employer when and how much and how long.

As an example, a small community hospital in Marquette County has decided that any of their loyal employees who are injured or sick which may require taking 12 or more weeks of sick leave, should not come back to work with more than one week of vacation time remaining. This is the administration's newly implemented practice that summarily defeats the purpose of allowing their employees' sick leave to accumulate. The question remains, what is the incentive for an employee to avoid using sick days? Just imagine, medical care facilities screwing medical care workers? A little ironic?

How about when you're injured on the job? Covered right? Read it and weep fellow workers:

2) The Act provides that a serious health condition may result from injury to the employee "on or off" the job. If the employer designates the leave as FMLA leave in accordance with Sec. 825.208, the employee's FMLA 12-week leave entitlement may run concurrently with a workers' compensation absence when the injury is one that meets the criteria for a serious health condition. As the workers' compensation ab- sence is not unpaid leave, the provision for substitution of the employee's accrued paid leave is not applicable. However, if the health care provider treating the employee for the workers' compensation injury certifies the employee is able to return to a "light duty job" but is unable to return to the same or equivalent job, the employee may decline the employer's offer of a "light duty job". As a result the employee may lose workers' compensation payments, but is entitled to remain on unpaid FMLA leave until the 12-week entitlement is exhausted. As of the date (July 1, 1998) workers' compensation benefits cease, the substitution provision becomes applicable and either the employee may elect or the employer may require the use of accrued paid leave.

The implementation of policies by any employer is arbitrary and capricious. If an employer likes what they see, they simply engage their new policy, regardless of past practice or previously established policies and procedures. In unionized workplaces, the union managers may recognize the policy for what it is; the intentional screwing of employees out of their earned PTO or vacation time and an employer's ability to rationalize their lack of recognition for accumulated sick time.

"As a result the employee may lose workers' compensation payments,"

Editor's Note: It has also been the practice of not compensating employees for unused sick leave when they retire or move-on. Why bother earning more than 12 weeks of SL?

Media Does it Again

In a nationally televised broadcast of the CBS Evening News on Monday, May 9, 2005, the alleged news outlet showed an interview with Ken Starr, former Prosecutor assigned to oversee the investigation of Clinton's lies to a federal judge and grand jury. The interview was edited and prompted in such a manner it seemed Starr was speaking out against the GOP.

Ken Starr was declared as a rogue conservative speaking out against any "nuclear option" to stop the filibuster in the Senate. As it turns out, it was just another failed attempt by the media mogul to corrupt the national debate and intentionally lie to their audience without remorse. The Communist-oriented CBS slogan should be: "If it's CBS, it's a lie."

An investigation on the Abu Ghraib Prison scandal had been announced by the Pentagon on February 16, 2004. CBS declared their investigative journalists uncovered the story in March and showed pictures of the prisoners in various compromised positions. The result was numerous beheadings.

NOTE: CBS News had also reported around 1,200 IDs and badges stolen from the DHS. We were unable to find some collaborating evidence or a similar report by any media outlet with some credibility.

Finally, the recent Newsweek claim that interrogators flushed portions of the Koran down the toilet was proven false. Many lives were lost because of their incompetence, but like all the CBS scandals that failed to add "responsibility" to the freedom of the press equation, people have died or careers jeopardized.

Democrats Destined To Be Held Responsible

In a recent national Gallup Poll, only 37% of the Americans surveyed thought that Congress was doing their job at a satisfactory level; 53% of the people acknowledged that Congress sucks.

Where's the vision? At every turn, Democrats are dragging their feet in a unified opposition to the nation's betterment. White Supremacist Robert Byrd, Carl Levin, Debbie Stabenow, Ted Kennedy, John Kerry and other senatorial cohorts are engaged in constitutional warfare on the floor of the Senate and are doing so at the expense of all Americans.

Judicial nominations may receive votes in the new "compromise", while the Social Security issue is regarded as the "third rail" in politics, yet Democrats in Congress can't even present a decent proposal. Even a simple cessation of stealing our FICA money, making federal employees and those earning more than $100K pay the FICA tax and simply having a hands-off account would solve a majority of the Social Security crisis.

Under the Johnson Administration, Congress could steal the Social Security tax money and put it in the general fund; this kept the fund at a zero balance so Congress would not have pay interest on the account.

President Bush was being constantly bashed by the foreign media and citizens because the bashing was incessant state-side all through the campaign. John Bolton, who would be an excellent trigger-man for the U. S., is being painted as less than honorable by the Democrats. Why?

The Democrats are in the pockets of United Nations officials and up to their eyebrows in corruption right along with the entire upper echelon of the U. N.—The Democrats have been selling us out for decades and it's really coming to light in modern times. Battle cries should be shouted from the roof tops in D. C.; "Remember Lippo!" or "Remember Los Alamos!!!"

What also came from the Clinton years? The EPA and most other federal agencies can impose fines and jail time for violations of policies or regulations. These agencies are also permitted to appropriate their funds to support environmental groups and save an ivory-billed woodpecker.

The role of the legislative body has been diminished and nearly eliminated by agency bureaucrats. The career employees of various government agencies, including in the State of Michigan, view legislators as just a nuisance. Your elected officials are only a few well intentioned individuals that come, raise a little hell and head back home. Not since the "Shinning City on the Hill" days of Ronald Reagan has there been any offering of a national vision. In fact, John Kennedy was the very last Democrat with any type of vision. It is mind-boggling to watch this Band of Idiots continue to campaign on issues that should have been systematically rectified over the past fifty years. But then, who are we to have expectations?

Perhaps we will see how this comes out in the '06 and '08 elections. It's not yet time for a third party, but we're close.

The Truth About the Matthew Shepard Murder Case

http://www.courttv.com/archive/trials/mckinney/110399\_verdict\_ctv.html

Recent events emerging out of the bowels of the nation's capitol and through biased media outlets like CBS involving the concerned and wise Democrats have conjured up memories of the Clinton Administration and its highly immoral and incompetent staff. Unlike Presidents Eisenhower and George W. Bush that surround themselves with highly competent people, Clinton chose to appoint idiots. Madelyn Albright, Dr. Jocelyn Elders and the infamous Janet Reno of Waco and Elian Gonzalez fame.

Janet Reno and the Clintons were also noted for their hate-crime legislation drive that resulted from the murder of Matthew Shepard in 1998, who was allegedly killed because he was gay. It helped promote their immoral agenda.

The truth behind the case is that Mr. Shepard was not murdered because he was gay; he was murdered because he was a social outcast seeking some much needed attention that put him in the wrong place at the wrong time. Unknowingly he set up self up for robbery.

Matthew Shepard entered a bar in Wyoming that fateful night and flaunted a huge roll of money. The young men involved in the murder had lured Shepard into a rural area by asking him to party with them; their intent was to rob Shepard. When the young men discovered that they had been shammed and the huge roll was no more than a large bill wrapped around a bunch of ones, they became outraged. The result was the ultimate death of Matthew Shepard.

A Wyoming jury acquitted Aaron McKinney of first-degree premeditated murder in the death of a gay student, but convicted him of aggravated robbery and kidnapping.

None involved in the murder knew or even cared that Matthew Shepard was gay.

By J. Powers

The decline in morality, values and patriotism had menstruated out of the 1960s. The liberals were safely stoned and away from having a harmful influence on the children and other ruggedly independent adults in the United States. That is, until the media found a way of undermining Johnson's little Vietnam War and pressuring Johnson not to seek reelection. What the media didn't realize is that their efforts to replace Johnson with a good little compliant liberal, Robert Kennedy, would meet with disaster.

However, the media would eventually find a way to destroy the Commie-killer Nixon who won after the medias' debacle. Liberals swarmed into D. C. to ensure the Manifesto they embraced would survive. Hillary Clinton was one of these ideological lawyers on the team of fascists and communists who joined forces to bring down conservatism. The Watergate scandal "investigators" eluded to Nixon knowing of and approving the break in of the DNC Headquarters. The Nixon Loyalists were caught, but others would soon be implicated. President Nixon chose wrongly to try and protect his inner circle from the fires of liberalism.

Although the liberals are still getting stoned, now only with higher priced doses of cocaine, they changed their personality to the extreme opposite of who they had been. The movement based on a free, peaceful, anarchist-type society, once advocated by the liberals of the 60s, failed to bleed over into the 1970s and beyond. The liberals instead led the way to their lofty self-worth that implemented a highly controlled and closed minded society of the modern era. The liberal ideology turned to a modern cultural philosophy that demonizes God, hails Globalism, controls minorities through housing and payoffs, and sanctioned the overpowering Environmentalist Nazis.

The modern or neo-liberals, who advocate tolerance and acceptance, unless it has anything to do with values, traditions or God, are now feeling the effects of their years of advocating immorality and promoting the highly incompetent at all levels within the government. It has produced an unbalanced and self-absorbed race of misfits who are intentionally undermining the traditions and values of society in order to feed their schizophrenia.

The metamorphosis into this new liberal philosophy raises suspicions at all levels. In reflection, Kruchev of the Soviet Union had announced the communist would take over the United States without firing a shot; in reality, the facts verify his statement.

The subsequent elimination of responsibility and accountability to the people of the United States by the neo-liberals has woke the passive and highly patriotic conservatives. Liberals fostered a new radical movement by those that hold God in the highest esteem, prefer moral and honest representation and want nominal government, particularly foreign government, influence in their lives. Conservatives also prefer those traditions, values and military strength that made the U. S. both honorable and respectable around the world to remain in tact and uncompromised.

CLINTONIAN ERA

The liberals moved from their dens of inequity in attics and backs of El Caminos all across America to desensitizing and indoctrinating today's children and adults. The liberals' controlling, demeaning and intrusive immoralities have successfully created degenerates, lazy and self-absorbed youth and set in motion an entire multi-generational expectation of government support. The advocacy of constitutional entitlements have replaced constitutional rights that once required some level of personal, family and societal responsibility.

Their New Age schizophrenic ideologies also advocates tolerance and enlightenment while being both highly intolerant and lacking in any real understanding. Liberals believe they are wise and intelligent, yet President Bush flew a fighter aircraft while John Kerry drove a boat; a key point demonstrating their arrogance.

The Clinton years gave rise, pardoned the pun, to male dominance over females and the 1990s were based on illusion. The economy was reported to be excellent, even though debt was at an all time high and savings were at an all time low. Even the redrafting on protocol for reporting crime effectively reduced the factual crime statistics.

Liberals also think themselves as being progressive, tolerant and enlightened because they embrace various nonconformists' lifestyles. The indoctrination of the people to immoral issues like homosexuality, pre-teen and early-teen sexual relations and other risqué promotions has led us to step three in the cycle of propaganda. We went from abhor, through ignore and now we are in the embrace stage of immorality.

When we seek to lay blame at the feet of someone or something for allowing the development of an ignorant, nominally thinking liberal citizenry, we need look no further than our own schools and living rooms. The days of the old hippies and the modern liberal whack jobs are easily linked to the education system and the television industry.

Because of liberal groups like the ACLU, DNC and NEA, M-TV and the extremely left-wing media, the liberal movement has nearly fully indoctrinated overlapping generations and propelled the citizens away from truth.

The liberals despise anyone who enjoys smoking, anyone who believes in God and Creationism and they especially despise those who question their unscientific and visceral proclamations like Global Warming and the need for the human element on the earth to be classified as an invasive species and a need to have humans in a controlled, environmentally-friendly communitarian.

The liberals are hetro-phobic, godless and self-righteous. They seek to disarm the people, kill their babies and put humans in their place; away from plants and animals. In their eyes, China is an advanced society with a high level of insight and a great deal of enlightenment. Hillary Clinton went to mainland China, not to advocate freedom, but to condone the abortion of female fetuses.

Where free thought and debate once prevailed, participating in such an activity today by God-fearing people and conservatives leads to scorn and ridicule by the left.

The left-wing ideologies have mutated into a highly controlling and self-righteousness that prohibits children from being kids and even prevents adults from being adults; mature, responsible and accountable. ~J. Powers

Just for Laughs; Reflecting on the ironic

Bill Clinton's recital of the oath of office at noon January 20 marks more than just the opportunity for a fresh start for the president. It also signifies the possibility of a new beginning for the first lady.

According to the hot-off-the-presses memoir by former presidential advisor Dick Morris, the Clintons will spend their second term in the White House conscious of securing their place in history. Mrs. Clinton must be thinking that she doesn't want her second four years in the White House to be anything like the first: marked by accusations of scandal and criticism for proposing an unpopular health care reform plan.

If so, there is an idea Mrs. Clinton should consider: leading a crusade in the second term to warn Americans, particularly young adults and adolescents, about the dangers of sexually-transmitted diseases (STDs).

The idea of a First Lady-led crusade against STDs is not as distasteful as it first appears. A crusade against STDs would be valuable politically for the Clinton Administration. Unlike most ventures with which the First Lady was associated in the first term, it is devoid of political risk. Furthermore, because Mrs. Clinton's views on this issue offend neither conservatives nor liberals (in interviews and in her book It Takes a Village Mrs. Clinton has advocated abstinence for young people until at least the age of 21 in part to avoid disease), a crusade could help her husband be seen, as is his wish, as a political centrist.

A crusade against STDs would also be personally satisfying for the First Lady, who has long indicated a preference for work that helps young people. As the first baby boomer First Lady she also no doubt would achieve some satisfaction from adopting a topic that would have been unthinkable for the First Lady when she was growing up. As a feminist, she would appreciate being able to slow the spread of diseases to which women are nearly twice as susceptible as men. And her place in history would reap the benefit of the American people's appreciation for her work in this sensitive but critical area, just as Betty Ford's popularity soared when she tackled breast cancer publicly -- a topic until then never mentioned by a President's wife.

Gay Stories in the Elementary Schools

<http://www.reclaimamerica.org/pages/NEWS/newspage.asp?story=2670>

Congressman Walter Jones, the sponsor of the Houses of Worship Free Speech Restoration Act \(H.R. 235\), has introduced a piece of legislation which would empower parents to aid in the selection of textbooks their children will use in elementary school.

Called the Parental Empowerment Act of 2005 (H.R.2295), the legislation was spurred by a situation in Wilmington, North Carolina, where parents were concerned that their children were being exposed to adult content in a book entitled King and King, which follows the story of a homosexual marriage between two princes.

Concerns over the book were taken to the school board, where a vote was taken to restrict access to it in local elementary schools.

STABENOW FAILS TO LISTEN

Editor's Note: The following e-mail was sent to a U. P. resident after he encouraged U. S. Senator Stabenow to support John Bolton. It seems to be a common practice among all of our elected Democrats; Granholm, Levin and Stupak are no exception.

Thank you . . .

. . . for contacting me to voice your opposition to the nomination of John Bolton as ambassador to the United Nations. I share your concerns.

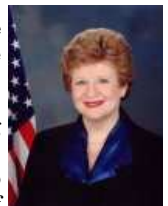

Our ambassador to the United Nations must be able work closely with, and earn the trust of our allies and other countries. Unfortunately, Mr. Bolton has antagonized many of our allies in the war on terror. Furthermore, on many occasions, Mr. Bolton has threatened to fire intelligence officers when they refused to exaggerate intelligence information to his personal liking. It is now more important than ever to have an ambassador who will provide credible and accurate intelligence information to our allies and the American people. For these reasons, I will vote against this nominee when he is brought before the full Senate for a vote.

Thank you again for taking the time to contact me. Please do not hesitate to do so in the future if I can be of assistance to you or your family.

Sincerely, Debbie Stabenow United States Senator

Editor's Note: John Bolton wanted to get rid of or reassign deadweight and non-team players.

The Yooper Scooper is a private newsletter to be exchanged among friends and like-minded individuals via the internet or through a hard copy printed at personal expense. Even though Democrats can campaign from the pulpit while Catholic Priests have to remain silent with threats of being removed from their non-profit status by the Democrats, the freedom of speech still has meaning and relevance among the people. We would like to take this opportunity to stress that if you take offense to the content of this newsletter you are probably indeed a descendent from monkeys. As for the rest of us, we hold the truths of God, Creationism, Free Will, Ten Commandments and the Constitution close to our hearts and within our souls.
